

Newark to Increase Parking Availability on Weekends

Downtown parking options will improve Friday evenings through Monday mornings

Newark, DE – The City of Newark, in conjunction with DelDOT, is pleased to announce that some currently restricted parking on Main Street will be made available on weekends starting Friday, November 15th. Metered parking spaces opposite the construction zone will be available from 5:00 p.m. Friday evenings through 2:00 a.m. Monday mornings. These parking spaces are expected to be available on weekends only for the remainder of the current construction phase (Phase 5B), which is anticipated to be completed in approximately one month. Please be advised that there may be occasions when construction work or safety concerns prevent parking from being available on a given weekend.

Newark municipal parking lots have also been added to the INRIX ParkMe mobile application which allows residents and visitors to view the parking lot locations and get directions via their mobile devices. This provides real-time information on parking availability and lot capacity for each lot. Additional information such as hours of operation, parking rates, payment options, and on-site lot amenities are also available through the app.

Haines Street is scheduled to re-open next week (weather depending).
